Introduction

Avion is a modern, responsive e-commerce website tailored to serve as a comprehensive marketplace foundation for an innovative business concept. Originally developed during Hackathon 3, this project builds upon the UI/UX designs from Hackathon 2, transforming them into a fully functional platform.

The planning process emphasizes the creation of a dynamic business infrastructure, addressing data schemas for managing products, customers, orders, shipments, and payments. By leveraging Sanity CMS for content management and Next.js for frontend development, Avion ensures a seamless integration of backend and frontend systems.
